

ARE YOU A PROFESSIONAL SUPPORTING MALE SURVIVORS OF SEXUAL VIOLENCE

We need your opinion!

- This study wants to hear from professionals (such as social workers, therapists, legal aid, community support and many more professions).
- We want to understand how factors such as religion, age, ethnicity, sexuality and disability influence survivor lives and access to support.
- This is a PhD research project conducted by Katie Bovington at Edge Hill University.

We are seeking professionals who:

- Support survivors of sexual violence in a professional capacity.
- Have experience supporting male survivors in particular.
- Have been doing so for at least 2 years.

What you'd need to do:

- You'd need to take part in an interview lasting 30-60 minutes to discuss your perspectives.
- Several dates and times are available, either in-person or online.

Interested?

Contact Katie at 26263211@edgehill.ac.uk
or scan to indicate your interest in finding out more and participating.

